Loss Is Heavy In House Fire

Washingtonville
Home Is Guttured

WASHINGTONVILLE — Damage was estimated at several thousands of dollars today in the fire which gutted the two-story frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Smith of Maple St. at noon Friday.

The building was covered by insurance.

Cause of the fire which destroyed the interior of the remodeled house is not yet known. Firemen had to chop holes in the sides of the home to extinguish the flames.

The blaze was discovered at 11:55 a.m. by children of a neighbor. They told their mother, Mrs. Francis Meisner, who then called firemen.

Witnesses reported most of the furniture was saved, although some of it suffered water damage. At the time for the fire, Mrs. Smith was at Guilford Lake, and her husband was at work in Salem. He is an employee of the E. W. Bliss Co.

The couple is presently residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, in Washingtonville, pending the repair of their home.

U. S. Exhibit Draws Praise By Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP)—The American National Exhibition in Moscow opened Friday night and drew envious praise from the first Soviet visitor — Nikita Khrushchev. "There are good things here, and we envy you for them," the Soviet Premier said at the dedication ceremonies. "They are things that Russia will have."

The opening day audience of 5,000 was by invitation — mostly diplomats and Soviet officials and their families. Fair managers are counting on a daily attendance of 50,000 with tickets selling at one ruble — 25 cents at the Soviet-fixed rate.

The fair grounds cover nine acres of Sokolniki Park — a Little America in the heart of the Soviet capital.

For the Russians to see were displays of things Americans wear and eat; things they use at play; model cars; homes and boats, plus a fashion show and soft drinks.

Khrushchev showed little interest in the seven-screen panorama of American life and the style show featuring both Negroes and whites. But the models of the latest American automobiles caught his eye, and he spent some time at this exhibit.

Nixon got his biggest ovation since arriving in Moscow on leaving the grounds after Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders had departed.

He spotted some Russians waiting outside an exit and strolled over to talk with them. The crowd grew to about 4,000, waving, cheering, and applauding.

Mrs. Nixon moved about chatting with youngsters and offering them candies. One mother shouted: "Here's to your health."

Ohio Lawmakers Bring Toughest Session to End

Auto License Tag
Hike Fails; House
Accepts Amendments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 103rd Ohio General Assembly staggered to the finish line today, 114 legislative days after it started its eventful session last Jan. 5. Under the spur of Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, the Democratic-dominated Legislature, through hundreds of enactments, touched the life of every Ohioan.

The bang-bang of innumerable firecrackers, the chants of innumerable barbershop quartets and the shouts of rump-session oratory punctuated final hours of the working session. Lawmakers were only letting off steam at the end of their grueling, 29-week session—the toughest session in the memory of Legislature observers.

Despite the merriment, the Legislature came to a reasonably orderly adjournment when the House called it quits at 12:07 a.m. EST. The Senate had quit 31 minutes earlier. Before adjournment of the working session, legislative leaders set Aug. 1 for a bill-signing session and planned to take final adjournment Friday, Aug. 14.

Because of a last-minute tangle, Ohio motorists apparently will continue to pay $10 for a set of auto license tags. The House voted for a $12.50 fee and the Senate for $14. The two houses never got together on differences.

That means that unless the argument is ironed out on sine die day, Aug. 14, the license tag fee will remain at $10.

The Senate version of the license tag increase would have produced an estimated 19 million dollars in the next two years for city, county and township road construction projects.

There was nothing very sensational about the last legislative day—just a picking up of needles and pins from the big sewing-bee. The House, as expected, accepted Senate amendments to four big House-approved bills:

To increase the state school subsidy to an estimated 413 million dollars, an increase of about 50 million dollars over the last two years including the increase resulting from school population increases.

To increase workmen's compensation benefits from $40.25 to $49 a week and boost benefits for old claimants from $25 to $40.25 a week.

Appropriate more than 98 million dollars for new state buildings and projects in the next two years.

Hurricane Debra Hits Texas Coast

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Debra smashed at the middle Texas coast, then stalled threateningly about 20 miles southwest of this island resort city early today.

The Weather Bureau reported shortly after 1 a.m. that the storm was stationary near the west tip of the island.

"Winds and tides are increasing in the Galveston Bay area, and hurricane-force winds and 5-to-6 foot tides are expected," said the Weather Bureau advisory said.

No major damage was reported caused by Debra which turned suddenly from a weak sister into a vicious storm with winds ranging up to an unofficial 96 miles per hour.

Minor but widespread damage was reported at the fishing and industrial center of Freeport, 40 miles to the southwest.

Torrential rains, up to 6 or 7 inches at Galveston, fell throughout the coastal area.

One shrimp boat and two other smaller craft were reported in trouble. A distress call from one unidentified vessel reported a fuel tank has broken loose and the crew feared an explosion.

Galveston, where a hurricane took 8,000 lives in 1900, is protected by a sturdy system of seawalls.

As much as 15 inches of rain was forecast in extreme southeast Texas and southwest Louisiana.

Nixon Pleased By Reception Of Red People

Vice President and Rickover Meet With
Mikoyan In Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon called at the Kremlin today and told First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov that he and his wife have been "very touched at our warm reception."

Nixon was clearly unshaken by his verbal jousts Friday with Premier Nikita Khrushchev when at times their words reached a heated pitch.

"Not only officially but unofficially we have been very pleased at our reception by people in all walks of life," the vice president told Kozlov.

Kozlov only recently returned from a tour of the United States. He opened the Soviet Exhibition in New York June 28.

Nixon's first call this morning was to see First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan to talk trade. He met a somewhat frosty reception, but he laughed it off.

The vice president took with him Harold Boeschstein, president of Owens Corning Fiber Glass Corp., of Toledo, Ohio.

Introducing him to Mikoyan, Nixon said: "He is one of our leading businessmen with much experience around the world. I thought you two business-minded men should get together."

"The State Department will decide," retorted Mikoyan in an obvious reference to the State Department's restrictions on trade.

Miss Hart Breaks Down, Admits Hoax

CHICAGO (AP)—A New Jersey socialite heiress has admitted her story of being kidnapped from the Newark airport by two men, driven to Chicago and then released because she was "too hot" to keep was a myth.

Pretty Jacqueline Gay Hart, 21, broke down Friday under the questioning of her father, Ralph A. Hart, executive vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive Co., and an FBI agent.

Confessing the hoax, Miss Hart said she did not remember what happened since she vanished from the New Jersey airport Tuesday night.

The FBI said it was checking all phases of Miss Hart's story which unfolded after she appeared, screaming and crying, "Help me! help me!" beside a police cruise in downtown Grant Park early Friday.

Police sent out a broadcast describing the 1½ carat diamond ring, an amethyst ring, a brooch and a bracelet which she said the men stripped from her.

At the outset, the FBI and police were skeptical of the girl's story of being seized, blindfolded and gagged, tossed in the tonneau of a car under a blanket and driven by two abductors to Chicago and then released in the lakefront park.

Police said Miss Hart's smart gray tweed dress, white sweater, black shoes and sheer stockings failed to show any of the wear and tear which an ordeal such as she described would have inflicted. And her one bruise—on her left arm—failed to tally with her account of being struck in the mouth by one of her captors after he locked her in the bathroom of an unidentified house in the Chicago area before her release.

Hart said his daughter is suffering from nervous exhaustion and is under a physician's care somewhere in Chicago. He said he did not know when they would return to their Short Hills, N.J., home along with Miss Hart's fiancé, Stanley Gaines, 25, of Fayetteville, W.Va., who flew in from New Jersey with Hart Friday.

How Miss Hart, who is to marry Gaines Aug. 29, came to Chicago and if she came alone remained a mystery.

FACE-TO-FACE — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev watches Vice President Nixon closely as the two talked in the premier's Kremlin office (July 24). Although their meeting started off in a friendly atmosphere, it turned into a sharp exchange of disagreement and open argument as Nixon and Khrushchev toured the U. S. Exhibition in Moscow. Each accused the other of issuing threats.

C. of C. Completes Survey

9-Year Improvements Here Total $8 Million

More than $8 million has been spent since 1950 on major improvements in Salem, according to a recent survey conducted by the Chamber of Commerce staff for the Salem Area Industrial Development Corporation.

Archie Bricker, president of SAIDC, commented that these major improvements have made the city attractive to new business and industry and a better place in which to work and live.

"However," Bricker continued, "The city must go one step further to protect these major investments by assuring new business and industry that we have a sincere desire to have them locate here."

He emphasized that only through a successful industrial development program will everyone's investment in the community be protected.

A public rally is planned for Aug. 4 to welcome Salem's newest industry, Salem Plastics Inc., and to discuss the next steps in the city's industrial development program.

Some of the major improvements in the past nine years revealed in the survey were:

New Salem High School, $2,670,000; water works plant and city lake, $1,560,000; Stewart reservoir, $60,000; water main extension, $54,000; sewage treatment plant, $710,000; modern city equipment, $16,500.

Central Clinic additions and parking program, $462,500; Salem City Hospital food service renovation (in progress) and additional wing (in drawing stage), $215,000.

Ohio Bell Telephone Co. addition and new equipment, $375,000; First National Bank drive-in and main office, $250,000; Farmers National Bank drive-in and other improvements, $140,000; Salem News additional equipment and parking, $78,600.

Ohio Edison Co. modernization, $30,000; Ohio Fuel Gas Co. new building, $90,000; Lape Hotel remodeling, $35,000; Metzger Hotel remodeling, $50,000; Red Cross remodeling and acquiring, $52,000; Village Green acquiring and construction, $48,000; AAA converting, remodeling and new equipment, $28,329.

Ruth Smucker house remodeling and improvements, $3,138; YWCA building construction, $100,000; Tinsler's new building and equipment, $165,306.04.

Church of Our Saviour improvements, $42,000; Methodist Church purchase of property, improvements and additions, $30,000; First Christian Church building, equipment and site, $340,000; park program, $195,000; Saxon Bowling alley, $125,000.

St. Paul grade school $325,000. The Emmanuel Lutheran Church is building a $160,000 educational unit on S. Broadway, and the Assembly of God Church is constructing a new edifice on the Ellsworth Rd.

Other construction projects were completed during the nine-year period, but were not enumerated in the Chamber report because the organizations failed to return the questionnaires.

U.S. Secretary Faces Opposition From Both Sides

Big 3 Ministers
On Weekend Trips;
Gromyko In Geneva

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter may propose next week a long recess of the Big Four conference unless the Soviet Union softens her terms for easing the Berlin crisis. But he chances both Western and Soviet opposition.

As the foreign ministers' conference went into its ninth week, the Allies were divided over whether their talks with the Soviet Union are progressing. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has been talking about the need to keep seeking a Berlin settlement formula.

The parley was in recess today with only Gromyko expected to remain here throughout the week end.

Herter was expected to return here tonight after a flying goodwill visit to West Berlin, his first visit to the divided city since becoming secretary of state. Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd went to London for consultation while Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France was on a trip to Brussels and Paris.

The next meeting is set for late Monday, a secret session at Lloyd's residence. Herter reportedly hopes to get some intimation at that time whether there is any chance that Gromyko will give way on the key issue — his proposal for creation of a committee

FCC Orders Cut In Long Distance Phone Call Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rates for some long distance phone calls will be cut soon under federal order. The annual reduction will total about 50 million dollars.

The Federal Communications Commission ordered the reduction Friday. It would apply to interstate phone calls over a distance of more than 300 miles.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which protested the order, said it expected to introduce the reductions in mid-September.

The amount of money a caller will save on a single phone call is not known. The company and its affiliates will have to file new rate schedules before that can be determined.

Frederick R. Kappel, president of AT&T, deplored the commission order.

"I believe this action ignores the long-range interests of the public," he said.

"Right now, we need to spend millions to make the quality of our service still better, add the facilities needed for growth, and enlarge and strengthen the communications network for national defense," Kappel added.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee on anti-trust matters, said "the FCC is to be commended" for the order.

Hoffa Plans Libel Suit Against Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for James R. Hoffa says the Teamster Union president plans libel action against Robert F. Kennedy for remarks the Senate rackets committee counsel made about Hoffa on television.

Kennedy made several charges against Hoffa Wednesday night when he appeared on the NBC Jack Paar show.

The spokesman said Hoffa had instructed his attorney to prepare libel action against the network, Paar and others who sponsored or were associated with the show.

Kennedy said he would welcome the suit "so that the matter of whether Mr. Hoffa has betrayed the union membership can be proven in a court of law."

Bible Words for Today

JAMES 2:1 - "My brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons." (KJV)

James is saying, "Do not show partiality." Jesus had no favorites, but respected human personality wherever he found it. The disciples were amazed that Jesus was kind and considerate of the woman of Samaria who came to Jacob's well.

It continues to be true in these present times that God does not show partiality to race, face, place, or taste, though the race be Caucasian, the face white, the place America, and the taste refined.

While pausing for a few minutes at the Good Samaritan Inn between Jerusalem and Jericho, a message came to me, "I must have compassion; I must show mercy; and I must bind up wounds."

There are no second-class citizens, no second-class races, and no second-class Christians. All are our neighbors, it was to me and to you that Jesus said, "Go, and do thou likewise."

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

There's Hope for the Future

It was a gay and exciting dinner party. The food was superb, the conversation brilliant, the laughter uninhibited. Then an unforgettable climax. Suddenly our hostess rose and quietly asked me to offer a prayer. The fellowship deepened. The sense of God's presence was definite. A strangely-moving unity prevailed as we all stood around the table.

This happened in a gracious home on the Rue Fabert, Paris, only a stone's throw from the Invalides and Tomb of Napoleon. Our hostess, Anne Marie Christine la Comtesse de Gontaut-Biron, petite and gentle, was one of the most inspiring personalities of the French Resistance.

Fifty times she crossed the Swiss border incognito to secure funds for starving refugees in Paris. She was eventually seized by the Nazis and interned for two years at Ravensbruck, the infamous concentration camp. Only fifteen out of five hundred people in the last convoy to Ravensbruck returned alive; and the Comtesse and her daughter were among the fortunate fifteen who came through that harrowing experience.

A FASCINATING GROUP was gathered about her dinner table. Opposite me sat Minister of Justice Edmond Michelet. Second ranking minister to De Gaulle and is regarded by many as a potential Premier. He, too, was a leader in the Resistance and suffered at Dachau. Deputy Pierre de Chevigny, a brilliant conversationalist in French and English, and other government leaders were also present. Two of the most gracious ladies of Europe lent their charm to the party, the Comtesse de Lussac, international hostess, and Madame Lansberger, Polish noblewoman.

All were ardent de Gaullists. At mention of the General's name an almost reverential attitude seemed evident. They were deeply appreciative when we voiced our admiration of the French leader. "He is like Lincoln to us," one said. This dinner party was much more than a social affair. It was part of a reception given by the International Council for Christian Leadership. This organization is headed by Rev. Dr. Abraham Vereide, Secretary General; Rev. Wallace Haines is president on the Continent, and U.S. Senator Frank Carlson here.

Its members include some of the most distinguished political, business and professional leaders of many countries—both Catholic and Protestant; its objective is to assure a deeper penetration of Christian ideals and practices into international affairs as well as in personal living. The strong Christian "cells" developed by I.C.L. are doing much toward creating not only better understanding among free peoples, but deeper unity as well.

THE DEPTH of spiritual fellowship evidenced in this Paris meeting was one of the most impressive of my entire experience. It could actually be said that the Christian love and faith felt that evening surmounted all differences of language, nationality and those between Protestant and Catholic.

It was a group where the main desire was to follow Christ and make Him uppermost in all of life.

The amazing strength of the spiritual movement abroad is not fully realized on our side of the Atlantic, and it is most encouraging to see that all over Europe people of great influence are being drawn into effective groups to study how Christianity may be implemented practically in our life today.

A day later, in Rome, I saw further evidence of the upthrust of spiritual unity. I visited the dynamic spiritual and educational leader, Father Felix A. Morlion, President of the International University of Social Studies Pro-Deo (under God). Pro-Deo's program is based on the belief that freedom and free enterprise can best assure economic and social progress and allow unlimited development of human possibilities.

THIS UNIVERSITY is an amazing experiment in interfaith activity. Its Board of distinguished laymen consists of 12 Catholics, 12 Protestants and six Jews. The student body numbers sixteen hundred students from many countries and is composed of Moslems, Hindus, Buddhists, Jews and Christians.

Father Morlion, who has the blessing of the Pope, is training leaders "under God" who will have the dedication and know-how to make religion and freedom the guiding forces of the future in politics, business and personal living.

So, take heart, reader. . . really take heart. God is on the move. The economic and political life of the free world is truly alive under God.

Closing Dates for Mahoning Fair Entries Announced

Aug. 15 is the closing date for entries in most of the departments of the Canfield Fair, it was announced today by Grace E. Williams, Fair Board secretary.

In announcing the details for exhibits at the 113th annual Canfield Fair, which opens Sept. 3 and runs through Labor Day, Miss Williams reminded exhibitors that all entries must remain on exhibit until 10 p.m. (DST) the last night of the fair. This applies to displays in all of the halls and to all livestock stalls. In setting forth these regulations, the Premium List states that premiums are forfeited if removal is made before that specified time.

All entries designated to compete for premiums must be registered with the secretary, and registration must contain the exhibitor's name, address; department and class, in which the exhibit will appear, together with the item number of the exhibit.

Entries of livestock are mailed to the director in charge. Entries in other departments should be mailed to the secretary at P. O. Box 27, Canfield. Entry cards may be picked up and paid for at the secretary's office on the Fairgrounds, Aug. 26 through Sept. 2.

Exhibitors must see to the delivery of their articles or animals up on the grounds, to the superintendent of the proper department by 5 p.m. Sept. 2, unless otherwise specified.

Among the exceptions to the entry deadline are the following: Tractor rodeo entries must be made with Robert R. Hammett, director in charge, before 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 3. Floral entries must be submitted no later than Aug. 1, and no entries can be accepted after available space in the hall has been filled.

Pressure Is Growing To Elevate Clergymen

By TOM HENSHAW

AP Religion Writer

There is a growing pressure on state and federal lawmakers to lift clergymen onto the same legal plane as lawyers and doctors.

The campaign slipped into high gear last year after a Baptist minister in Tennessee was fined $50 and given a 10-day suspended sentence. He had refused, during a divorce trial, to reveal information he had received in confidence.

The minister, the Rev. James Glisson, later was pardoned, but Tennessee churchmen were aghast to find that existing state law extended privileged communication only to lawyers and their clients.

And there was further stir in church circles when Washington lawyer A. Robert Theibault submitted a report on the national situation to the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs.

Theibault's finding: Sixteen states and the District of Columbia have no laws protecting communication between clergymen and their parishioners.

(Since the report, two states, Tennessee and South Carolina, have passed such legislation.)

The unprotected 14 remaining are Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas and Virginia.

Furthermore, Theibault reported, at least half the existing laws are inadequate and their wording leaves them open to almost any interpretation an individual court cares to give.

The June convention of the 1½-million-member American Baptist Church passed a resolution urging its members to work for state and federal statutes guaranteeing ministerial immunity.

The Conference of Synodical Presidents of the United Lutheran Church in America has started the ball rolling toward getting approval of a similar declaration at the ULCA's 1960 convention.

McDonald stressed that the steel industry's total labor bill is less now—with considerably more steel production—than it was in years past—some 8 per cent less, per ton of finished steel, than a decade ago.

"And there are thousands upon thousands fewer steelworkers in the mills today producing more steel and better steel than ever before," he said. "Does that look like featherbedding?"

"As physical effort decreases, mental effort increases. This is not to say there doesn't still exist a great deal of physical effort—sweat and hard work. Innumerable improvements have been initiated by the workers," he said. "We are not loafers. We work hard. As partners in the enterprise we have something coming. We intend to get it."

How long will the steel strike last?

McDonald, who has had to cancel plans to accompany Richard M. Nixon on the vice president's current tour of the Soviet Union, said the answer is up to the industry.

"We want our people off the bricks and back at their jobs as soon as possible," he said.

at home

Our children love Sundays. First, of course, there is church. Afterwards, in good weather, we often have a "backyard picnic."

For me, this outing comes after a morning when I have completed one of the most important tasks of my week — preaching a sermon to my congregation. Yes, I'm a minister. If that surprises you, it shouldn't.

We ministers are people too — just as close as anyone else to pleasure, temptation, anxiety, and all the other things that go to make up life. But God has entrusted us with the task of conveying His message to you. It is a tremendous task. Yet always I feel blessed that it is mine.

When you see me standing alone in my pulpit on Sundays, do not feel that I am a figure apart from you. Rather, I want to share not only your hours of church attendance but also your moments both of triumph and of trial. I stand ever ready to serve you, to lend you my assistance, my understanding and, should you seek it, my counsel. It is only in this way that I can hope to be worthy of my vocation. Remember, won't you — and call upon me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OHIO BELL

Spoiled Child Doesn't Dread The Rod

Long after the laws passed by the 1959 session of the Ohio Legislature have been forgotten, or repealed, the plaintive cry of House Speaker James A. Lantz against the AFL-CIO will be remembered.

Here was the No. 1 legislative leader of a top-heavy Democratic majority presumably friendly to organized labor summing up his feelings after six frustrating months of trying to please Ohio unionists. A Democratic governor, Michael V. DiSalle, had been bitterly attacked for having a mind of his own about the unions' demands. Speaker Lantz had been castigated for not falling dead on the AFL-CIO's command.

"The Ohio AFL-CIO... has once again demonstrated its 'What have you done for me recently?' attitude towards those they sometimes call friends," said Lantz. He was referring to criticism of himself and other Democrats who had stood for moderation in revising the Ohio Workmen's Compensation Act.

"In their eagerness to find whipping boys for the reductions which they brought upon themselves by demanding fantastic increases in the first instance, they have forgotten the many rural Democrats who supported labor's proposal for supplemental unemployment benefits; who gave them one of the most liberal unemployment compensation laws in the country, and who provided 20 per cent increase in workman's compensation benefits," Lantz recounted.

Then he came to this conclusion: "It may be that these Democrats will have benefited by this attack if only because it has forcefully brought home the fact that the friendship of the labor lasts only until their first request is denied."

IN WASHINGTON at this instant, ground-work is being laid in the headquarters of the Teamsters Union to throw money and influence against every member of Congress who has dared to look cross-eyed at any of the antics associated with James R. Hoffa. In every union conference and conclave the names of legislators and officials who have dared to speak their minds against positions assumed by union leaders are being filed for future revenge.

It is nothing new to learn that politics makes strange bedfellows but no enduring friendships. But until the No. 1 Democrat in the Ohio House of Representatives raised his voice in anguish, there actually were Democrats who must have thought they had bought the AFL-CIO's undying friendship with a few favors in return for some campaign support last fall.

And in Washington, until the union labor steamroller began to squeeze the juice out of a vital antiracketeering proposal, there must have been naive Democrats who thought they could count on their "friends in labor" to take them off the hook in a growing scandal over unionism's high-handed defiance of public opinion and the people's representatives and senators.

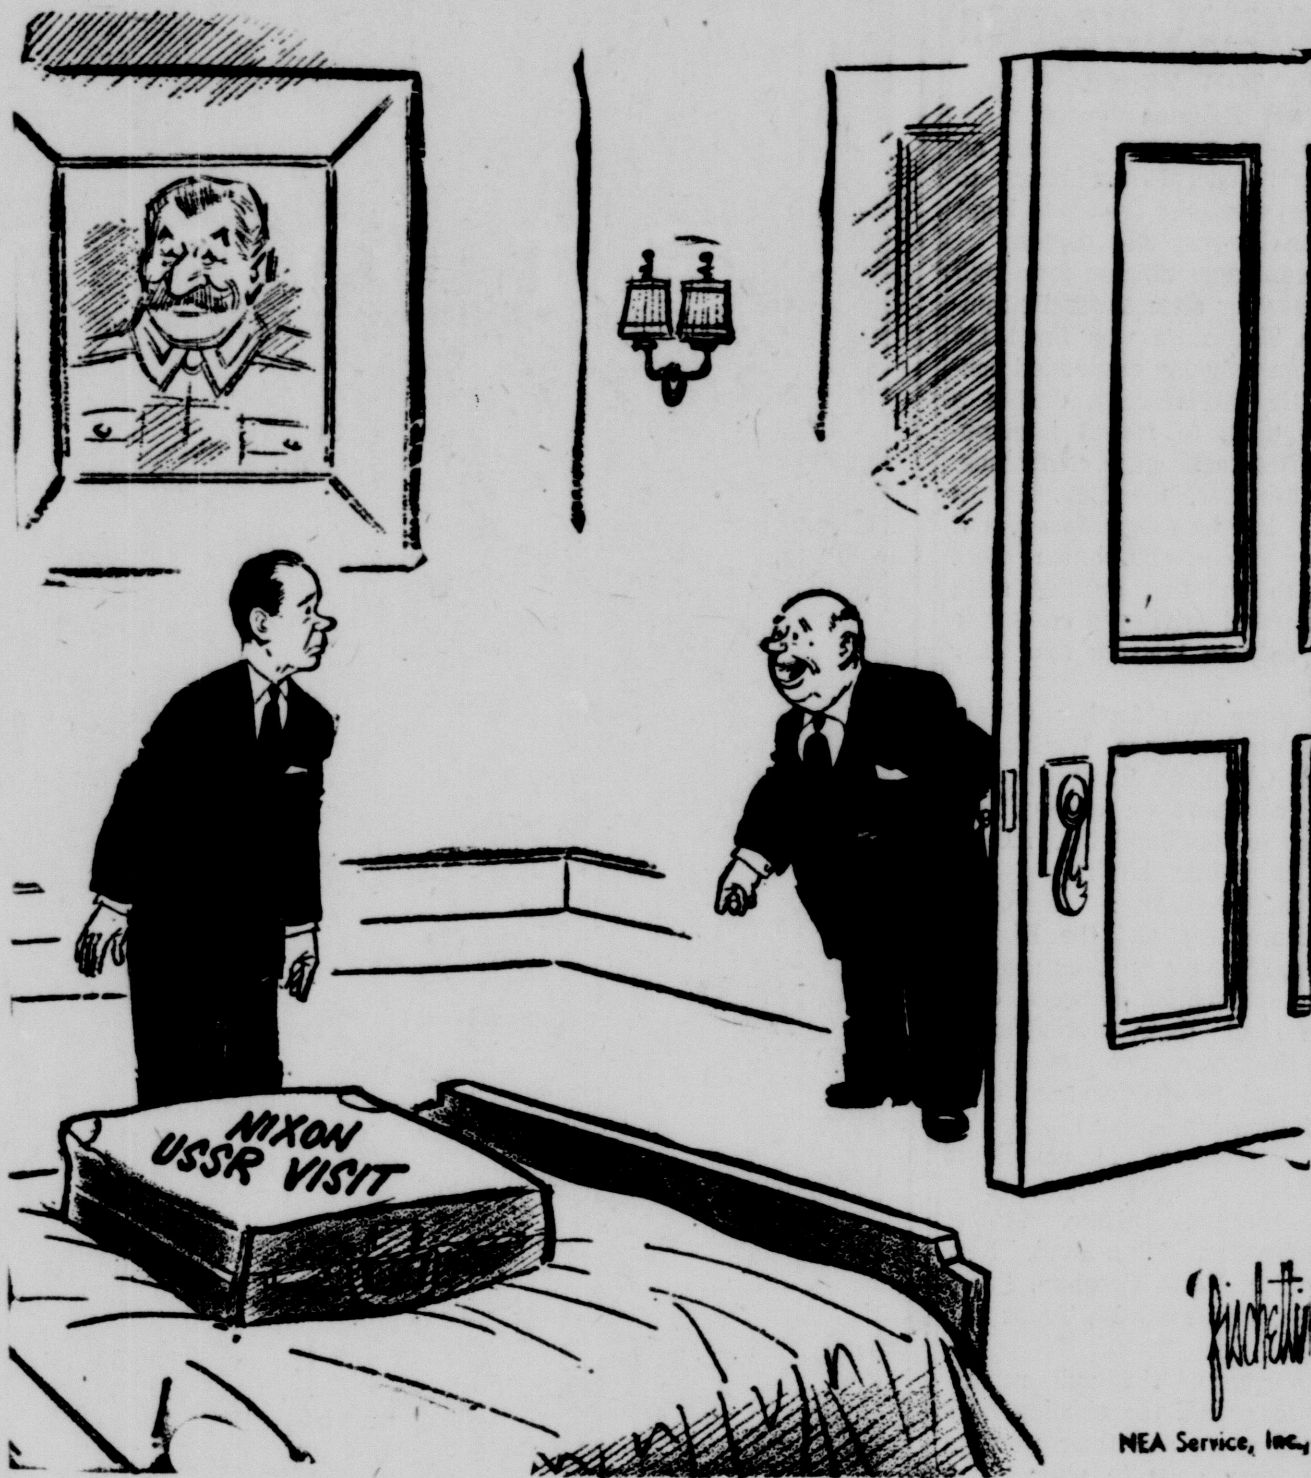

THE LABOR UNIONS have good reason to think they are untouchable; they have not been touched since the Taft-Hartley revision of the original Wagner Act reminded them they had responsibilities as well as rights. They never have forgiven the legislators who voted against them.

They are as much like legislative spoiled children as the trusts and monopolies had become by the beginning of the 19th century. They think all legislators and public officials should do their bidding. They do not dread the rod because they do not know what it feels like — and they have no intention of finding out what it feels like. They are too big to be disciplined, they say. The rod is in their hands now.

In 1960 they intend to bring it down hard on the flinching back of every office-seeker who ever crossed them or questioned their right to run things their own way and no questions asked.

Friend, what have you done for me recently?

"If You Need Anything, Just Call---The Whole Room's Bugged"

U.S. In Spot on Berlin

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is in a terribly bad spot on Berlin. That is the essence of a gruesome picture painted this week by President Eisenhower.

At a dinner with White House correspondents he frankly talked of this country's huge difficulties in trying to help the 2 1/2 million West Berliners if the Communists decide to try to shut them off from the West.

He didn't say anything the Russians don't know already. Yet, to understand what he said is to understand the American dilemma in dealing with the Russians at Geneva. The foreign ministers' meeting there began May 11.

The solemn Eisenhower statements on Berlin — and their implications — explain why the Russians started this trouble in the first place and why they are being so tough about it.

That trouble can be stated simply: West Berlin, whose allegiance is to West Germany, is 100 miles inside Communist East Germany. This Western outpost, deep in Red territory, has been a pain to the Soviet Union since World War II.

Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin tried to grab the city in 1948 by blocking all Western supplies that moved to Berlin by train or truck. This was easy, since they had to move through Communist-run country.

President Truman could have tried a shoot-through. It might have meant war. Instead, he smashed the blockade by supplying Berlin through a giant airlift. The Russians refrained from shooting down American planes. That would have been war.

Stalin dropped the land blockade. It apparently had been a testing maneuver to see if the West would give up the city without a struggle. He himself then was in a poor position to go all the way—including war.

The United States then had an atomic-bomb monopoly. For 10 years the Russians dropped their attempt—but not their desire—to gobble the city. They used that time to build up strength: atomic and hydrogen bombs and missiles.

Now they're probably equal in atomic strength, apparently ahead in missiles, and far ahead in ground-force strength. So Stalin's successor, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, picked up where the old man left off.

Last Nov. 27 Khrushchev ordered the Western Allies to get their troops out of Berlin, and implied the city might be cut off from access to the West if they remained.

But the presence of the troops is important as visible evidence to the West Berliners that they have Allied protection and support. The West refused to remove the troops.

Why is the West so concerned about anything Khrushchev says? Can't a new airlift smash a new blockade, just as in Truman's time?

The answer lies in Eisenhower's statements this week, since the Soviet Union today is in far better position to risk a showdown with the West than in Stalin's time just 11 years ago. This is the picture as Eisenhower painted it:

He said—if there is a new Berlin blockade — he believes the tactical military position of the Western Allies would be just about as poor as possible.

He feels that even passive resistance on the part of the Communists would jeopardize the Allies' land routes into Berlin and that Red jamming of Western radar would make a mass airlift very difficult.

The President said a new blockade would be much tougher to crack than the one 11 years ago. He feels, he said, the Allies could not supply West Berlin with enough of the raw materials its economy needs.

Yet what he didn't say — although it is clear enough — is this: The United States can't stand idly by and see Berlin lost without jeopardizing the entire Western alliance whose members' confidence in their combined will to resist the Soviet Union would be badly damaged if not destroyed.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"Sure it's undignified, but it's the first thing your mother had wanted to do in ages that didn't cost over a quarter!"

Social Security

By PETER EDSON

Upward Trend In Rates Is Noted

The House Ways and Means Committee has scheduled five days of hearings on hospitalization and medical care for the aged.

This is about the only social security legislation likely to receive any consideration at this session of Congress, although there now 108 separate social security bills now before the legislature. It's a popular political subject. Congressmen get a lot of mileage out of proposing greater benefits for the old folks and for people on public assistance. That's why social security legislation gets amended some way at least once every two years.

The Eisenhower administration has no plans of its own before Congress now on expanding the social security system. But when Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming testifies before the administration's position on pending bills.

From other sources outside of Congress, proposals for expanding social security are numerous. Labor organizations are all for it. Representative James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) has an omnibus bill which goes as far as any Congressional plan.

CHARACTERISTIC of all these ideas is a program put forward by Dr. Wilbur Cohen, formerly with the Social Security Administration, now with the University of Michigan. He calls for doubling average monthly benefits by 50 per cent before 1970.

With all this in the wind, it is only fair to sit back and ask, "Where is social security going?"

Many alarmists view with some concern the fact that 15 per cent of all personal income is now being paid for "nonwork." Economists call them "transfer payments." They include not only social security benefits, but life insurance, private pensions, dividends, interest and rents. To the extent that payments for "nonwork" are bad, it must be recognized that dividends, interest and rents are part of the capitalistic system, here to stay.

Furthermore, says William L. Mitchell, commissioner of Social Security, "There is now bipartisan and nonpartisan acceptance of the idea that social security is also here to stay, and that the benefit rates will have to be geared to a dynamic economy."

MANY PEOPLE have not stopped to think how the present social security system has grown from a modest start. There was no change in the rate from 1939 to 1950. Since then benefits have been increased over 100 per cent.

The rise may not be as rapid in the future as in the past, but the trend is upward, Commissioner Mitchell believes.

There have been changes in the national concept of what constitutes well-being. Many things that used to be considered luxuries, are now considered necessities. This is reflected in acceptance of public assistance payments. Maintenance of income for the unemployed is now considered a good thing not only for the people who get the benefits, but for the stability of the national economy and business in general.

THE ONLY THING the country must be careful about, says Commissioner Mitchell, is that "We must be sure the system is not designed to make people entirely dependent on social security. We must not destroy the incentives for home ownership, insurance and savings."

So far, the U.S. social security system has not done that. It has, on the other hand, contributed to greater savings, more private insurance and more home ownership.

An advisory Council on Public Assistance set up by Congress last year will report next January. In 1961 the next White House Conference on Aging will be held. The guidelines for future expansion of U.S. Social Security are expected to be forthcoming from them.

Shaping 1960 Tickets

By JAY G. HAYDEN

The rising conflict between Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler and the Texas congressional leaders — Sam Rayburn and Lyndon Johnson — could be of more vital consequence than any intraparty fracas since the Republican break between Presidents Taft and Roosevelt in 1912.

The effect of the latter was to give the Democrats their first presidential inning since the election of Grover Cleveland in 1892. (Woodrow Wilson won in 1912 with only 41.8 per cent of popular votes — as against 24.74 per cent for Roosevelt and 23.1 per cent for Taft.)

The prime significance of the present Democratic schism is that it inevitably will shape the platform and nominees which the Democrats will carry to the voters a year from next November.

Almost as certainly it will influence Republican decisions, because that party, choosing last, will make its platform and will nominate candidates with a view to mopping up voters disgruntled by the Democratic decisions.

TWO FACTORS are paramount in the Democratic division.

First, Chairman Butler has declared over and over his determination either to make the South bow down to federally enforced racial integration or read that section out of the Democratic party.

Second, Butler is sticking to all of the economic shibboleths of the Roosevelt New Deal and the Truman Fair Deal, based on the notion that any governmental benefits for preferred classes — farmers, city poor, old folks, war veterans, home builders — can be got away with so long as resultant taxation is federal rather than state or local.

Beginning in 1948, when Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina gave 38 electoral votes to the State Rights ticket of Thurmond and Wright, the South increasingly has bolted the Democratic ticket.

In 1952 President Eisenhower carried Florida, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia (57 electoral votes) and in 1956 he held all of the South and gained Louisiana, for a total of 67 electoral votes.

At this time the situation is different. But while it quite possibly may have the result of holding for the Democrats some or all of the Southern states heretofore lost to the Republicans, it may produce Democratic breakaways in the North and West.

SPEAKER RAYBURN and Sen. Johnson, although fundamentally Dixiecrats, are less violently so than most of their Southern brethren. Both supported Adlai Stevenson all the way in 1952 and 1956.

It is true also that Rayburn and Johnson wield far greater power in the party nationally than they or any other Southerners did in those last two quadrenniums.

Sen. Johnson, himself a formidable Democratic presidential possibility, has shifted his base westward. He not only has chosen, along with his Texas colleague, Yarborough and Senators Kerr and Monroney of Oklahoma, to caucus with 23 Western states, since joined by Hawaii but he is marshaling this great region as a foil for the big cities of the North and East.

Johnson has introduced his own civil rights bill, designed to break down obstruction to Negro voting in the South but he has not gone far enough to meet the demands of powerful Negro minorities in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and perhaps other large voting states.

Whether a candidate himself or behind somebody else, Sen. Johnson, with the sure cooperation of Speaker Rayburn, definitely has set out to ward off another Southern bolt by producing a Democratic ticket and platform that the South will accept. If that plan succeeds, the question will be whether the big states of the North and West will go along or find the Republican offering more acceptable.

After the Democrats complete their slate, Republicans will decide whether Vice President Nixon or Gov. Rockefeller best fits the opposition picture.

It Would Still Be 2,070 Too Many

Amid burning curiosity about the way the Defense Department could get reliable figures on the matter, most of us will accept at cool face value its statement that only 2,070 enlisted men are working as servants to officers.

It would still be 2,070 too many. There is nothing about being an officer in the armed services of the United States that entitles the holder of the position to have personal servants at public expense. Neither is there anything about the services that justifies their use of either volunteers or draftees for any purpose other than the defense of the country.

This is not because the performance of personal services represents any loss of status. It is only because the involuntary performance of such services by the wearer of the U.S. uniform represents a loss of personal dignity.

This is so even if the performer of the service regards it as a privilege, which is undoubtedly the way many an officer's servant thinks of his job. But this is not Britain, where an officer is entitled to a "batman," or a "striker" under a military caste system patterned after the caste system in British society.

It is the United States, where membership in the officer class is attained by merit.

A few as 2,070 enlisted men in the personal service of officers instead of the impersonal service of their country, would still be too many. The House subcommittee whose curiosity brought forth the information has hit an exposed nerve. Militarists may see nothing wrong about the practice. But civilian can see nothing right about it.

Outdoor Band Concert

Remember the concerts you enjoyed as a child when your parents or an aunt took you to the band shell on the town square? Well, you can relive those moments in a practical way by taking advantage of the American Legion Quaker City Band's first summer concert Monday night at Centennial Park.

The Legion band has arranged a special program, so gather 'round at 8 o'clock and enjoy it.

Not too many communities are privileged to have a band such as the Legion Quaker City aggregation which has been thrice Ohio champions and once national champions, all in the past six years. Unfortunately, due to limited funds, the band can not take part in competition this year but its members' desire to be of service community-wide is reflected by the various local concerts presented throughout the year. The outdoor entertainment at the park Monday is typical.

Retarded Children's 'Wells of Hope' To Be Placed Here

"Wishing Wells of Hope for Retarded Children" will be placed on E. State St. Monday to serve as containers for contributions to the Retarded Children's Campaign Fund Monday through Aug. 8. The wishing wells have been provided by two local Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Robert Davis, chairman of the Garden Therapy committee of the Salem Garden Club, has arranged for the well, which will be stationed in front of the J. C. Penney Co. store. Mrs. Joshua Henderson of the Country Gardens Club is to be in charge of the well to be located in front of the First National Bank.

Members of other organizations and church groups have volunteered to attend the wells during the hours when the merchants' stores are open. The wells will be taken inside the buildings at night.

Money collected from the two "Wells of Hope" and also from the wishing well at the Timberlanes during the two weeks of the campaign, will go to the general treasury of the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children.

The Council sponsors a school in Salem's Westminster House and one in Garfield Public School in East Liverpool.

To better acquaint the public with the Council's aims and achievements for retarded children, Boy Scouts will visit every home in the county, distributing pamphlets explaining the program.

John Billiter of Salem heads the County Council. Teachers of the two schools are Mrs. Robert Starbuck of Salem and Mrs. Albert Fineman, East Liverpool.

COLUMBIANA

Elder to Seek Council Post on GOP Ticket

COLUMBIANA — The Columbiana Republican organization once again is presenting a solid front in the approaching election, having plugged one hole which had developed in its slate of candidates.

John C. T. Elder, owner of the Columbiana Tractor Sales, is the party's new candidate for Village Council, replacing Herbert Sponteller who recently withdrew from the contest. This is the first time in about 20 years that the GOP here has had candidates entered for every office on the ballot.

ELDER, RESIDENT of 173 N. Vine St., is affiliated with the Methodist Church, Rotary Club, Ruritan Club and Masonic Lodge. He joins Dale Klingensmith and Robert Ferrall as the new Republican council candidates.

Other GOP council aspirants are Kenneth Gormley and Harry Fullerton, both seeking re-election, and William Arn, asking election to his first full term. He currently is filling out an unexpired term.

Two village traffic cases and five entered by the State Highway Patrol have been heard recently in mayor's court here, according to docket entries showing the following disposition of the cases:

VILLAGE ARRESTS: Perry E. Douglas, 17, RD 1, Columbiana, reckless operation, surrendered license for 30 days; Gaylord A. Wright, 24, of RD 5, Lisbon, no-light violation, fined $10 and costs. Highway patrol citations: August J. Melching, 55, Poland, passing at intersection, fined $5 and costs; Carmen P. Grisby, 58, RD 1, Canfield, passing at crest of hill, fined $5 and costs; Paul J. Pitts, no address listed, failure to apply for registration, $15 and costs; Anthony J. Kostoglov, 25, Youngstown, passing at crest of hill, $15 bond forfeiture; John E. Fabian, 21, Waynesboro, Pa., passing at crest of hill, $10 bond forfeiture.

OPEN HOUSE TODAY and Sunday is planned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller of the Middleton Rd. in honor of their two daughters and a son and family due here for a short visit from their homes in California. They are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Miller and two sons of Fullerton, Calif., and Misses Marjorie and Shirley Miller of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Ivan Reash of the New Waterford Rd. will entertain members of the King's Daughters Class of Grace United Church at a 6:30 p.m. picnic Thursday at her home. Husbands of members will be guests.

years. Appropriate $1,337,000 for sundry state claims, including $245,550, inserted on the Senate floor, for a debt the State of Ohio has owed for several years for operation of Hoover Pavilion at the Cleveland City Hospital.

In last-minute actions: The Senate completed action on a bill to increase membership on the Racing Commission from four to five.

In connection with passage of the workmen's compensation bill, both houses adopted an excise levy of three cents per $100 of payroll on employers to cover the cost of increasing the benefit for old claimants to a maximum of $40.25 a week.

The House and Senate completed hurry-up action on a bill to correct an error previously passed and signed by the governor to increase unemployment compensation benefits.

The Senate completed passage of the omnibus minor court bill defining the jurisdiction of municipal, mayors' and county courts and erasing from the law books the last vestige of the justice of the peace system.

The 103rd General Assembly has faced and tackled more problems than any recent Legislature. Many of them were in the fields of taxation and state government reorganization.

Democrats, convinced the state was on the brink of financial disaster, backed up Gov. DiSalle's plea for new taxes—a total of 317 million dollars. Those taxes balanced a record budget of nearly two billion dollars.

The latest of the new or increased taxes, approved Friday, was the three cents per $100 of payroll to provide the money for an increase of benefits for old claimants under workmen's compensation. That increase will amount to an estimated seven million dollars in the next two years.

Earlier, the Legislature had voted a two-cents-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax, a total of about 46 million dollars in the next two years; a 60-million-dollar increase in the corporation franchise tax; a 4½-million-dollar boost in the beer tax, a seven-million-dollar hike in the horse race wagering tax, a sales tax revision calculated to produce 3½ millions in the next two years; a liquor price increase by administrative order estimated to yield 40 millions and an inheritance tax increase estimated to yield the state treasury three millions in two years.

On top of those tax increases, the Legislature voted almost 120 million dollars in a 2-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to finance a pay-as-you-go highway construction program.

The tax fights—the whole long series of them—produced the biggest news and the biggest arguments of the entire session. Mostly, Republicans insisted the tax proposals were too high.

DiSalle lost his big bid for power to reorganize state government at will, subject to legislative veto, but he achieved these major revisions:

A new state Department of Economic and Industrial Development, headed by a director with various advisory committees.

A new Personnel Department, headed by a director with a three-member board of review to replace the present two-man Civil Service Commission.

A five-member Pardon and Parole Commission to replace the present three-man commission next Oct. 1.

A five-member state Racing Commission to replace the present four members.

Additional administrative power for the state liquor director and pay increases for four full-time Liquor Control Board members, with the chairman required to be an attorney.

Ohio's first state Civil Rights Commission of five members, to be headed by a $12,000-a-year director, with power to enforce anti-discrimination in employment through the courts.

Legislators were generous with salary increases for nearly all public employees and office holders, except themselves.

Under a job and salary reclassification law, some 30,000 state employees will get pay raises next Jan. 1 of about a million dollars a month.

Others getting increases included elected county officials, judges, appointed state officials, numerous members of boards and commissions, and members of state retirement systems on pension.

Legislators voted against giving themselves $10 a day, in addition to their $5,000 a year salaries, while in session. They also voted to increase their weekly mileage allowance although one member said higher gasoline taxes and other cost increases warranted the boost. Pay discrimination because of sex was banned.

The Legislature removed $65 monthly ceilings on aid to the needy aged and the blind created a state water commission, authorized supplemental unemployment benefits, created a state scholarship fund, approved state purchase of old strip-mined land, boosted courthouse fees and sanctioned advance of highway right-of-way by state retirement and workmen's compensation funds.

But the governor failed in efforts to abolish capital punishment, change Ohio's utility rate formula, limit election expenses further, return poor relief to counties, obtain conflict of interest, labor reform and criminal conspiracy laws and end use of sales tax stamps.

Attracting attention were enactments to modify Ohio's "blue laws" against unnecessary Sunday activities to permit full operation of fairs and markets, ban motor scooter licenses for 14 and 15-year-old operators, allow quail hunting on state-controlled lands, regulate billboards along interstate highways and exempt radio and television broadcasters from revealing news sources.

Others require uniform numbering and licensing of watercraft using Ohio waters ranging from $1 annually for rowboats to $10 for big power launches, increase the fee for registering motor vehicles from 25 to 35 cents, issue a $3 fishing license for married couples, require registration of habitual sex offenders and provide a treatment center at Lima State Hospital.

Require licensing of nursing and rest homes, permit re-registration of voters by mail, adopt "With God All Things Are Possible" as the state motto, make Columbus Day a legal holiday and authorize two-year technical institutes.

Tribe's Bell Hurls Six-Hitter to Beat Nats 5-2

Baxes Blasts 10th Home Run

McLish Will Oppose Fischer In 2nd Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP) — Right-hander Cal McLish goes against the Washington Senators in the second of a four-game series today seeking his eighth straight victory.

The Cleveland Indians' leading pitcher, with a 12-3 record, will be opposed by Bill Fischer (8-4).

Cleveland won the series opener 5-2, Friday night to remain a half-game behind pacesetter Chicago in the American League pennant race.

Gary Bell, back from the bullpen, was given the starting assignment and went all the way. He allowed only six hits, gave up no walks and struck out seven.

The loser was Camilo Pascual (11-8), who had won seven straight. Bell is 9-9.

Jim Baxes' second inning home run, his 10th of the season, was the first hit off Pascual, who had retired the first five batters.

Tito Francona, the Tribe's .400 hitter who suffered a pulled thigh muscle Thursday night, did not play against the Senators. Gordon said he wouldn't push the center fielder back into action too soon.

"Better a week off now than making this a chronic thing," the manager said. "He might be ready for pinch hitting sooner than that."

Bell's chance for a shutout was spoiled by Roy Sievers, who hit two home runs—his 15th and 16th, in the fourth and ninth innings.

George Strickland singled two Indians home in the third inning after a single by Minnie Minoso and two walks filled the bases. The Indians got their last two runs in the fourth on a walk to Baxes, a double by Woodie Held, and a single by Minoso.

Mark's Comes From Behind To Nip Charley's Tavern 8-6

Mark's Landing and Lincolnthe fight for fourth place with Machine showed why they are on top in the Class A softball loop Friday night as they pulled out clutch victories after trailing their opponents as late as the fifth inning.

Mark's spotted Charley's Tavern five runs and one player, then took the lead for the only time in the game when Walt McDivitt clubbed a two-run home run in the bottom of the seventh to win 8-6.

Lincoln sent Midway Motors reeling a game and half out of first by bunching three of its four hits in the sixth inning for a 2-1 victory.

B & W Research remained in the bottom of the seventh to win 8-6.

Paul Paster had a perfect four for four at the platter for Charley's King had three hits for the winners.

Prior to this slugfest, fans were treated to a hot pitchers battle between John Guiler of Lincoln and Bryson of Midway. Each hurler gave up but four hits.

Midway opened the scoring in the third when Dick Andric singled, was sacrificed to second and romped home on Jack Jackson's double.

Lincoln opened up in the sixth with Bill Crookston's single. Frank Lanney then rapped another single and Crookston carried the mail all the way home when the ball got loose for an error. After Bill Odorizzi reached base on a fielder's choice, Charlie Marks walked and rode home on Ron Shaffer's single.

The Kaiser-B & W affair went just six innings, being halted by the eight run rule. Kaiser just didn't have it at bat or in the field where it committed five errors.

Second baseman John Smith of B & W had the game's only home run. It came in the fifth with one on. Paul Thys got credit for the win.

TOP STARS BATTLE
SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Top-seeded players battle for honors today in the finals of the Western Open junior and boys' tennis championships.

In both singles and doubles all finalists are first and second seeded layers except John Karabasz, Coral Gables, Fla., seeded eighth in the singles.

Karabasz will meet Bill Lenoir of Tucson, Ariz., in the 18-and-under finals.

Hitting — Al Smith, White Sox, broke up tie game with ninth-inning home run for a 2-1 victory over Baltimore that retained Chicago's slim American League lead.

Mays, Jones Come to Rescue

Giants Turn Back Chicago Cubs 6-5

Johnny Antonelli had more trouble at Seals Stadium Friday night. But the San Francisco Giants hustled an ailing Willie Mays, off the bench and Sam (Dependable) Jones out of the bullpen for a 2½-game lead in the National League race.

It was Jim Davenport's two-out,

10th inning single that gave the Giants a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, but only after Mays, out of the line-up because of a sore neck, had come through with a pinch-hit single as San Francisco gained a 5-5 tie in the eighth.

It was Jones, an ace as a starter or in relief, who blanked the Cubs on one hit over the last two frames for his 14th victory.

Antonelli, still smarting from the rebuttal after blaming the Giants' wind-blown park for two homers that beat him earlier in the week, got in trouble when the Cubs overhauled a 2-0 Giant lead with three in the fifth, touched off by Bobby Thomson's Second-place Los Angeles slipped with a 2-1 defeat by the St. home run.

Second-place Los Angeles slipped with a 2-1 defeat by the St. Louis Cardinals. The Dodgers now are just two games ahead of the third-place Milwaukee Braves, who rapped Pittsburgh 8-0 behind Juan Pizarro's four-hitter. Philadelphia defeated Cincinnati 2-1 on Carl Sawatski's two-run pinch-hit homer in the ninth.

A walk, sacrifice and Davenport's single after an intentional walk to Mays, added another game to the Giants' lead as they beat reliever Don Elston (5-3) for their third in a row.

Southpaw Johnny Podres (8-7) lost his third in a row for the Dodgers after balking the Cardinals on three hits until the eighth inning. Then four singles gave the Cards both runs, with Bill White's hit tying it 1-all and Gino Cimoli's two-out hit beating his ex-mates.

JoeA dock hit a two-run homer, his 10th, in the first inning for the Braves, then added another RBI with a single in a four-run fifth against lower Harvey Haddix (7-8). Pizarro (3-1), the young lefty who earlier pitched a two-hit shutout against the Bucs, struck out a dozen in this one, fanning every Pirate at least once.

Rookie right-hander Jay Hook (1-1) had the Phils shut out on five hits until the ninth, when he gave up a walk ahead of Sawatski's fifth home run, the ninth pinch-hit homer by the Phillies this season. Jim Owens (6-8) was the winner, blanking the Reds on five hits until the eighth, when Eddie Kasko hit his first home run.

Pitching — Juan Pizarro, Braves, struck out 12, fanning every man at least once, while giving up just four hits for 8-0 victory over Pirates.

Salem has already been racked up three times by the Youngstowners, always in close, high-scoring games. Players and horses on both clubs took physical beatings in their last outings.

Salem was roughed up at Darlington, Pa., Wednesday after the Mahoning Club fared little better against the same outfit last Sunday. Players actually came to blows in the Youngstown-Darlington game and one performer, Eddie Roberts, Youngstown's number three man, was knocked unconscious.

Roberts suffered a shattered nerve in his head and is not expected to be action against Salem tomorrow.

With the exception of a few bumps and bruises, Salem should be at full strength for the tilt. They are expected to go with their usual lineup of Phil Thompson, Jim Watson, Jimmy Bahr and Lloyd Brunner, with Jack Arnold as alternate.

Arnold this week purchased another experienced pole pony from Toledo and promises to give it plenty of action Sunday. Salem will be looking for its fourth win. It has eight losses.

Louisville, Ky.—Alonso Johnson, 183½, Braddock, Pa., outpointed Willie Pastrano, 187, Miami, 10.

Fairfield Grid Coach

BRUCE WEBER

Bruce Weber formerly of New Waterford and a 1956 graduate of Youngstown University, has been hired as football coach at Fairfield-New Waterford high school.

Weber replaces Alton Dobson who has accepted a coaching position at Struthers. The son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Weber of New Waterford, he has been teaching and coaching basketball at Southington High School near Warren for the past three years.

At Fairfield-New Waterford, Weber will also teach biology and social studies. He was graduated from New Waterford High School in 1952.

The new coach will be residing in the New Waterford area with his wife and 2-month-old daughter.

Chicago Downs Baltimore 2-1

Al Smith, the guy they used to boo, now is the big man with the eleventh-hour bat for Chicago's White Sox, who don't win by much but make the most of it.

The Sox retained their half-game lead in the American League by beating Baltimore 2-1 Friday night, and it was Smitty's ninth-inning home run that did it, giving southpaw Billy Pierce the edge in a duel with Hoyt Wilhelm after Nellie Fox's five-out triple had tied it in the eighth.

It was Chicago's 22nd one-run victory against five defeats. It also was the 16th decision the Sox have put away in the final inning—and the fifth time Smitty has done the job.

Second-place Cleveland stayed close by whipping Washington 5-2. Detroit rapped New York 4-1 and Kansas City made it five straight with a 3-1 decision over Boston.

In the National League, San Francisco gained a 2½-game lead

WHICH DOLL IS REAL DOLL? — Who's kidding who is a puzzle on both sides of the fence as Debbie Nicora and friend visit a children's park in Cleveland, Ohio. That's Debbie, 3, on the right. The little girl doll, at the left, is big as life. It takes a regular size dress for a three-year-old. The dolls are made of practically indestructible, easy-to-carry plastic.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Angina Pectoris Requires Adjustments

"Angina" writes Miss S., who says she is over 70, "has bothered me more or less for eight years, but I have needed nitroglycerin only the last two years. Now," she says, "I notice that if I lie on my right side, pain develops."

Before saying a few words about angina pectoris and its relationship to coronary thrombosis, I should tell Miss S. that if she has no pain lying on her left side, then this is what she should do.
